HOMEPAGE WALKTHROUGH: EACH SECTION AND THE PART OF THE BRIEF IT MEETS

WholesaleShopping.co.uk homepage redesign · NaskSoft AI Web & CRO assessment · October 2026

Live link: https://wholesaleshopping-homepage-redesign.netlify.app

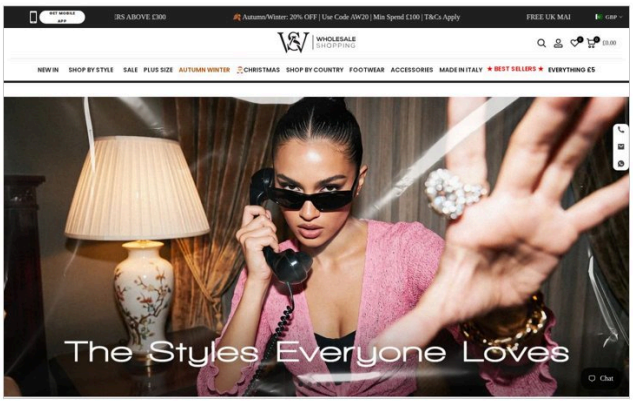

How to read each section:

- What it does: what the section shows and how it behaves.
- Meets the brief: the brief's own words it covers, with the part of the brief they come from (What We Want to See, CRO Thinking, Mobile Matters, Test Your Work).
- Fashion Nova idea: the pattern borrowed from Fashion Nova, and how it was adapted for trade buyers.

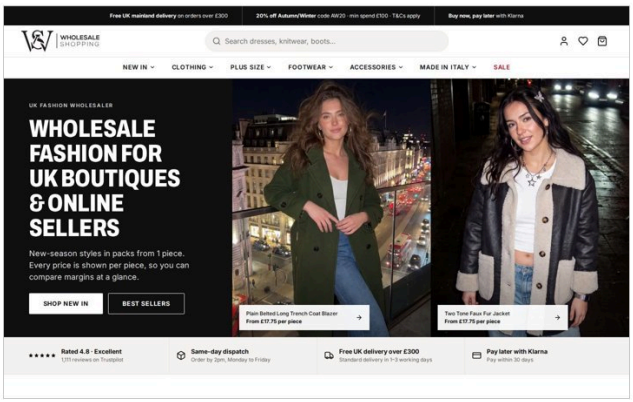

A table at the end lists every requirement and the sections that cover it.

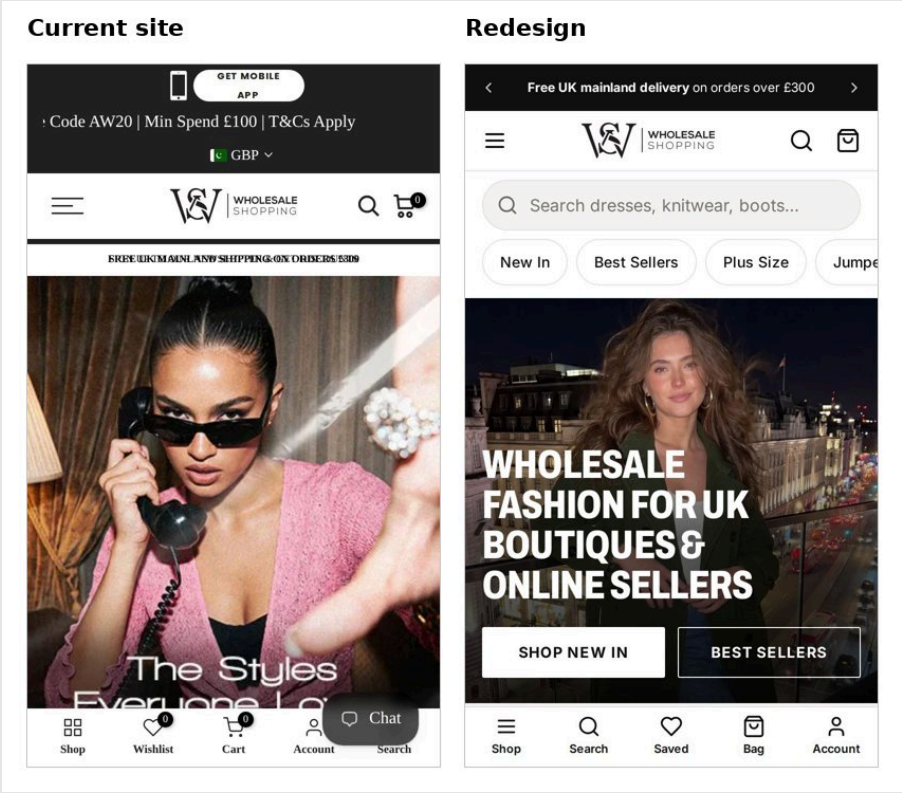

1. FIRST SCREEN: BEFORE AND AFTER

Current site

Redesign

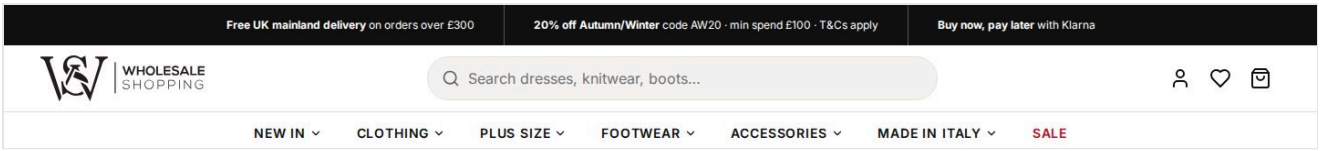

What changed:

- Before: the first screen is a picture-only slide with its text baked into the image ("The Styles Everyone Loves"), and there's no button and no product.
- After:
  - The first screen says who the site is for, with two clear buttons and the facts trade buyers check: rating, dispatch, delivery and payment.
  - On phones it also has the search box and one-tap category chips, and both buttons stay above the bottom bar.

Meets the brief:

- "Redesign the homepage … with a stronger focus on modern e-commerce design, user experience, mobile usability and conversion" (The Challenge)
- "What information should appear above the fold" (CRO Thinking)
- "How quickly shoppers can reach products" (Mobile Matters)

2. OFFER BAR AND HEADER

What it does:

- Offer bar: one bar with three real offers: free UK mainland delivery over £300, 20% off Autumn/Winter with code AW20, and pay later with Klarna. Desktop shows all three; phones rotate them slowly and pause on touch.
- Header: the store's logo, a wide search box, account, saved items and the bag (with counts).
- Menu: seven clear items instead of twelve mixed ones.

Meets the brief:

- "Promotional areas" (What We Want to See)
- "Clear navigation and product discovery" (What We Want to See)
- "How promotions are communicated" (CRO Thinking)
- "Visual hierarchy and spacing" (What We Want to See)

Fashion Nova idea: the black offer bar and the big search box. They're adapted without Fashion Nova's countdown timer: it shows real trade offers only, because fake urgency hurts trust with business buyers.

3. MENUS: MEGA MENU (DESKTOP), MENU DRAWER AND BOTTOM BAR (PHONE)

Desktop

Phone

What it does:

- Mega menus: they keep all of the store's real categories, grouped by category, style, country and pack price, with a featured product. They open on hover, click or keyboard, and close with Esc.
- Phone menu: a drawer with department tabs, big rows, "Register a trade account" and the contact details.
- Bottom bar: puts Shop, Search, Saved, Bag and Account within thumb reach.

Meets the brief:

- "Clear navigation and product discovery" (What We Want to See)
- "How quickly users can reach collections" (CRO Thinking)
- "Mobile navigation", "button sizes" (Mobile Matters): every control is at least 44 px tall.
- "Navigation works" (Test Your Work): tested at four screen sizes.

Fashion Nova idea: the department tabs in Fashion Nova's mobile menu.

4. HERO

Desktop

Phone (first screen)

What it does:

- Headline: "Wholesale fashion for UK boutiques & online sellers", in real text. It's the page's main heading, so search engines and screen readers can read it too.
- Buttons: Shop New In and Best Sellers.
- Photos: real New In products. On desktop each has a "shop this look" tag with its price per piece.
- On phones: the photo is cropped for the phone, the text sits over a dark gradient, and both buttons stay on the first screen.

Meets the brief:

- "Strong hero/banner area", "Clear calls to action", "B2B wholesale messaging" (What We Want to See)
- "Where important CTAs appear", "what information should appear above the fold" (CRO Thinking)
- "Banner proportions", "button sizes" (Mobile Matters)
- "You may use existing Wholesale Shopping product and banner images": these are the store's own product photos.

Fashion Nova idea: the full-width campaign photo. Fashion Nova bakes its message into the image; here the message is live text.

5. SEARCH

Desktop

Phone

What it does:

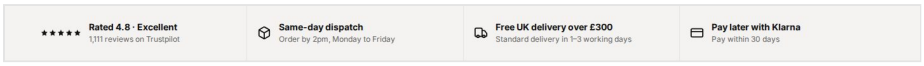

- Matching products appear while you type, each with a photo and price per piece.
- Popular searches show before you type.
- "See all results" and Enter hand over to the store's full search.

Meets the brief:

- "Clear navigation and product discovery", "A smoother path from homepage to product discovery and purchase" (What We Want to See)

Fashion Nova idea: the large search bar at the top of every page.

6. TRUST STRIP

Desktop

Phone

What it does: right under the hero, it shows the facts a first-time trade buyer checks:

- Trustpilot 4.8 "Excellent" from 1,111 reviews
- same-day dispatch for orders placed by 2pm, Monday to Friday
- free UK delivery over £300
- pay later with Klarna within 30 days

On phones it's a 2 × 2 grid, so everything is visible without swiping. Before, this information was only in the footer.

Meets the brief:

- "Trust and credibility", "B2B wholesale messaging" (What We Want to See)
- "What information should appear above the fold" (CRO Thinking)

7. SHOP BY CATEGORY

Desktop

Phone

What it does:

- Ten photo tiles: New In, Tops, Dresses, Jumpers, Coats & Jackets, Trousers, Plus Size, Footwear, Bags and Scarves, each showing one of that collection's own product photos.
- Phones: the tiles become a swipe row, with the next tile peeking in so buyers can see the row scrolls.

Meets the brief:

- "New arrivals and key collections", "Clear navigation and product discovery" (What We Want to See)
- "How quickly users can reach collections" (CRO Thinking)
- "Scrolling behaviour" (Mobile Matters)

Fashion Nova idea: "Shop by Category" tiles.

8. SHOP THE LATEST: PRODUCT ROW AND WHOLESALE PRODUCT CARD

Desktop

Phone

What it does:

- Five tabs: New In, Best Sellers, Plus Size, Footwear and Made in Italy, with 12 real products each.
- The wholesale product card shows:
  - the price per piece first ("From £17.75 per piece"), then the pack and its price
  - the number of colours, and badges (New, Made in Italy, Plus Size)
  - a save heart and a Quick Add button
- A note next to the row says prices are per piece and exclude VAT.

Meets the brief:

- "Product sections", "New arrivals and key collections", "B2B wholesale messaging" (What We Want to See)
- "Product cards" (Mobile Matters)
- "Product cards are usable" (Test Your Work)

Fashion Nova idea: "Shop the Latest" tabs and Quick Add. The card is reworked for resellers, who compare the cost per piece.

9. QUICK ADD

Desktop

Phone

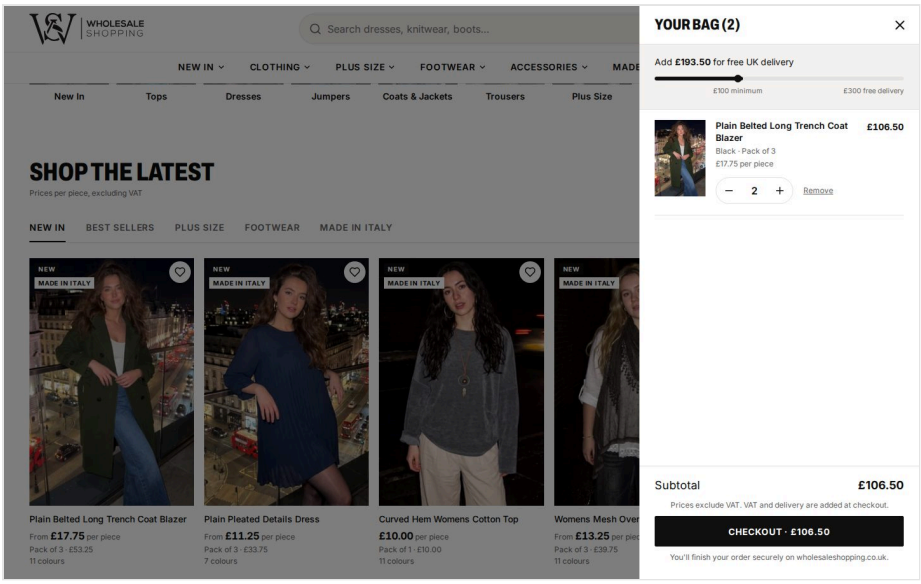

What it does:

- Buyers choose colour, pack size and number of packs without leaving the homepage.
- It opens on the best-value pack in stock, marked "Best value", and sold-out colours are struck through.
- The total updates live.
- On phones it's a bottom sheet, with the Add to bag button pinned at the bottom.

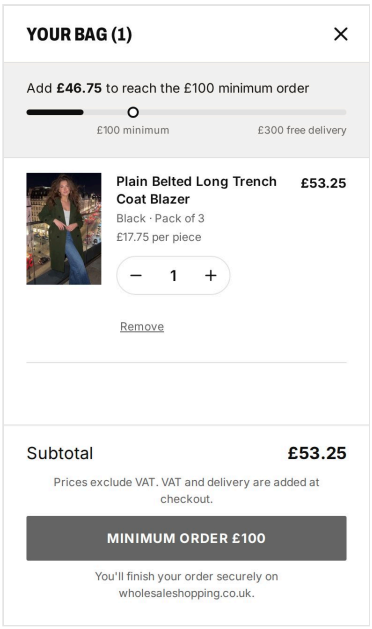

Meets the brief:

- "A smoother path from homepage to product discovery and purchase", "Purposeful animations or interactions where appropriate" (What We Want to See)
- "Your homepage should feel like a real e-commerce experience rather than just a visual mock-up" (What We Want to See)
- "Button sizes" (Mobile Matters)

10. BAG: £100 MINIMUM ORDER AND £300 FREE DELIVERY

Desktop: over £100

Phone: under £100

What it does:

- Progress bar: shows the store's real rules, the £100 minimum order and £300 free UK delivery.
  - Below £100 it says how much more is needed, and checkout stays disabled.
  - Above £100 it says how far it is to free delivery.
- VAT: a note says prices exclude VAT.
- Checkout: hands the bag to the store's real Shopify checkout.

Meets the brief:

- "Think about the complete buying journey", "Clear calls to action", "B2B wholesale messaging" (What We Want to See)
- "More likely to … place an order" (CRO Thinking)

Fashion Nova idea: "You're $X away from free shipping". The wholesale version adds the minimum order, so there are no surprises at checkout.

11. SHOP BY PACK PRICE

Desktop

Phone

What it does:

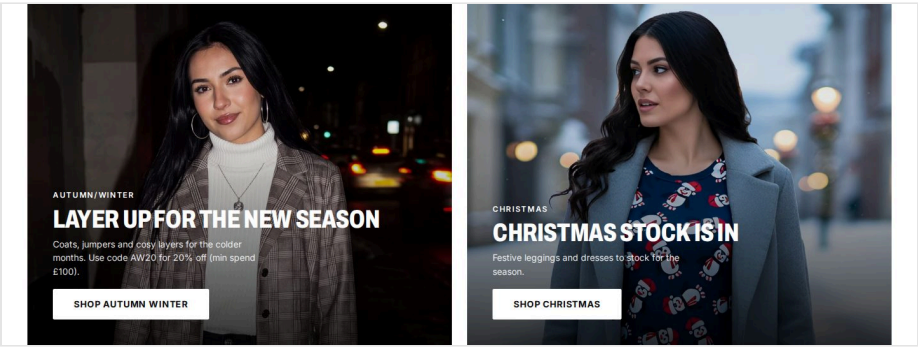

- Tiles for "Packs under £4.99 / £7.99 / £9.99 / £14.99 / £19.99" and "Everything £5", each linking to the store's real collection.
- They say "pack" because those collections filter by the price of the whole pack, which keeps the labels accurate next to the per-piece prices on the cards.

Meets the brief:

- "Promotional areas", "Clear navigation and product discovery", "B2B wholesale messaging" (What We Want to See)

12. SEASONAL BANNERS

Desktop

Phone

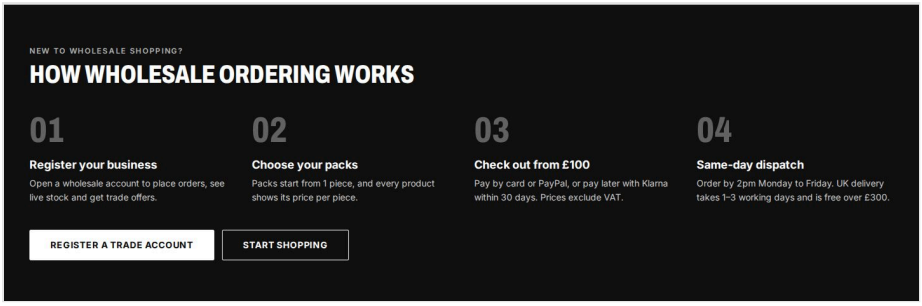

What it does:

- Two banners: Autumn/Winter (with the AW20 code) and Christmas.
- Live text over real product photos, and the whole banner is one tap target.
- Landscape on desktop, portrait on phones.

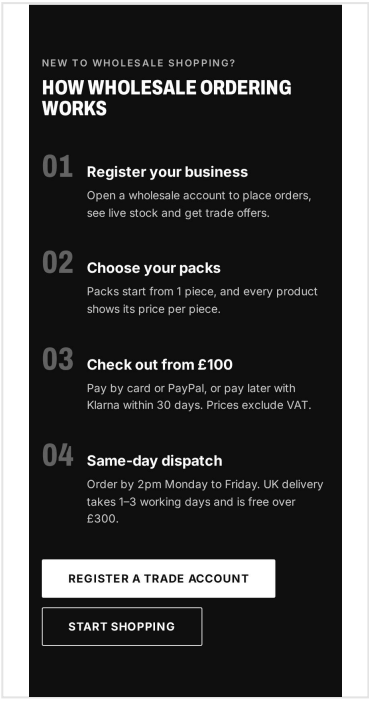

Meets the brief:

- "Promotional areas", "Strong hero/banner area" (What We Want to See)
- "Banner proportions" (Mobile Matters)

13. HOW WHOLESALE ORDERING WORKS

Desktop

Phone

What it does: four steps for first-time trade buyers:

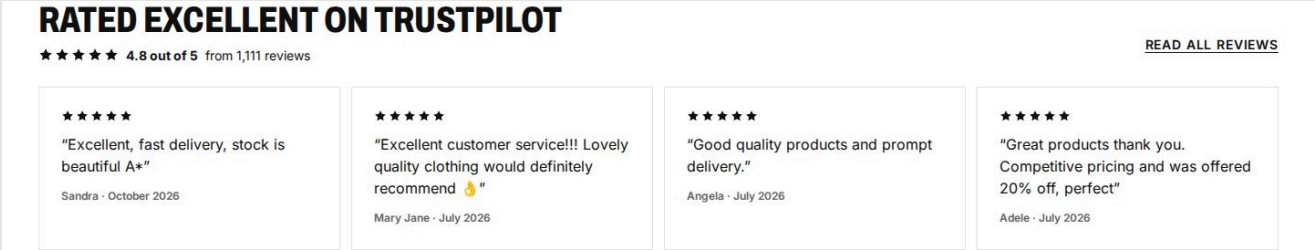

1. Register your business.
2. Choose your packs.
3. Check out from £100 (card, PayPal or Klarna; prices exclude VAT).
4. Same-day dispatch.

Then two buttons: Register a trade account and Start shopping.

Meets the brief:

- "B2B wholesale messaging", "Trust and credibility", "Clear calls to action" (What We Want to See)

14. REVIEWS

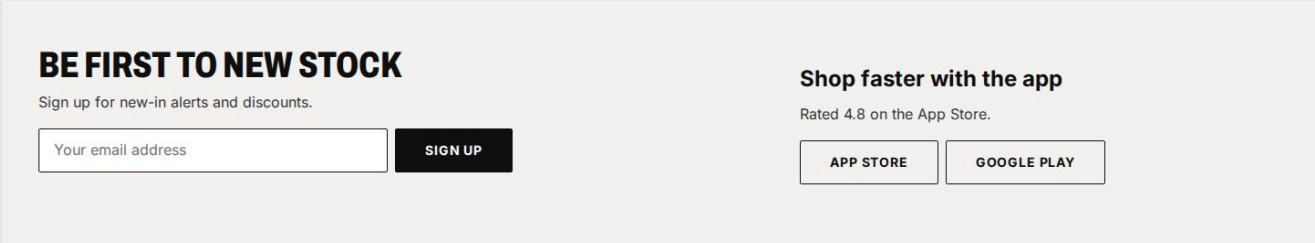

What it does: shows the Trustpilot rating and four recent real reviews, with a link to all of them. They swipe on phones.

Meets the brief:

- "Trust and credibility" (What We Want to See)

---

15. NEWSLETTER AND APP

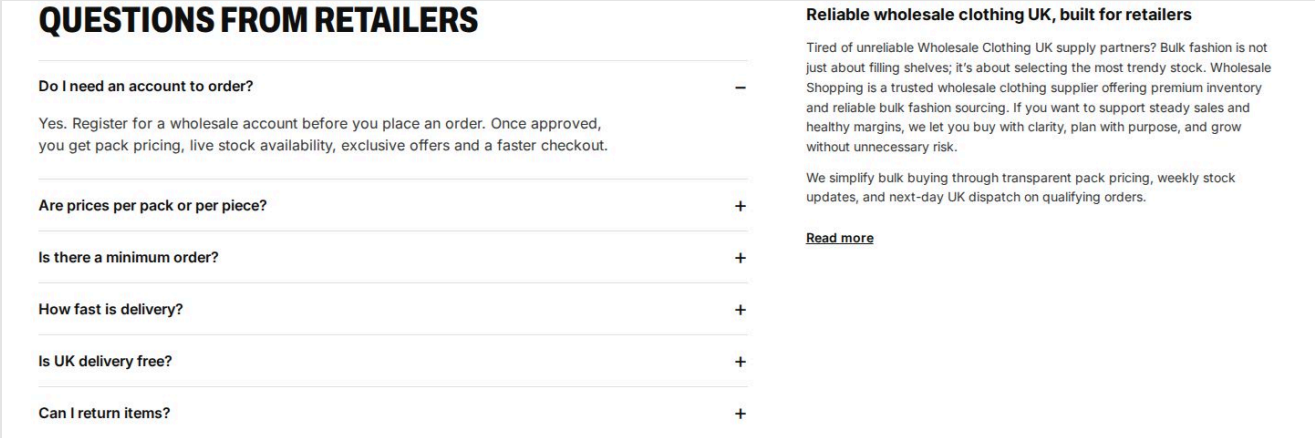

What it does:

- A sign-up for new-in alerts and discounts. It's a demo in this concept, so nobody is added to the real list.
- Links to the store's real App Store and Google Play listings.

Meets the brief:

- "Clear calls to action", "Promotional areas" (What We Want to See)

16. FAQ AND ABOUT

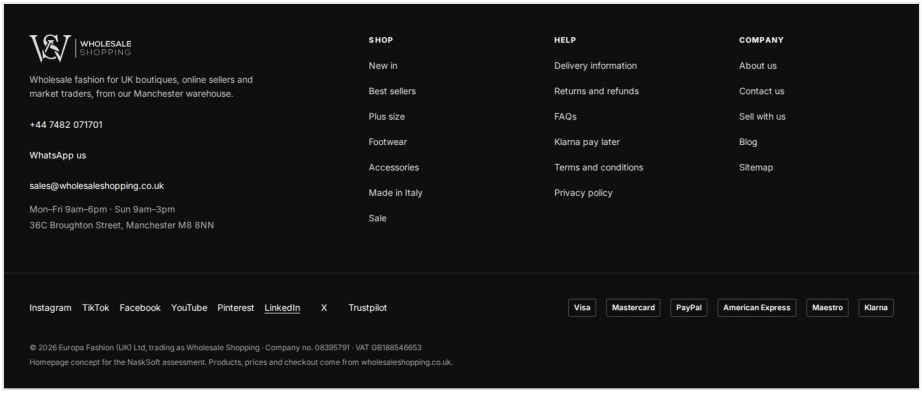

What it does:

- FAQ: six real trade questions (account, per-piece pricing, minimum order, delivery speed, free delivery, returns), opening as accordions.
- About: the store's long SEO text stays on the page for search engines, but folded behind "Read more" so it doesn't push products down.

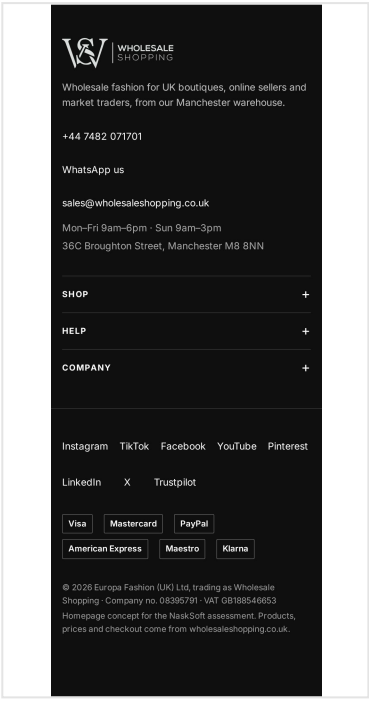

Meets the brief:

- "Trust and credibility", "B2B wholesale messaging", "Visual hierarchy and spacing" (What We Want to See)

17. FOOTER

Desktop

Phone

What it does:

- Contact: phone, WhatsApp, email, opening hours and the Manchester address.
- Links: Shop, Help and Company, which fold into accordions on phones.
- Also: social links, payment methods, and the company and VAT numbers.

Meets the brief:

- "Clear navigation and product discovery", "Trust and credibility" (What We Want to See)
- "Spacing", "button sizes" (Mobile Matters)

---

18. ANIMATIONS AND INTERACTIONS

What it does:

- Movement: sections fade in as they scroll into view, the second product photo appears on hover, and drawers and sheets slide in.
- Bag count: it updates instantly when packs are added.
- Reduced motion: all of this switches off for visitors who choose "reduce motion" on their device.
- Auto-play: nothing plays on its own except the offer text on phones, which pauses on touch.

Meets the brief:

- "Purposeful animations or interactions where appropriate" (What We Want to See)
- "Animations do not interfere with usability" (Test Your Work): an automated test checks the reduced-motion behaviour.

19. TESTED

What was checked:

- 55 automated tests pass against the live link at four screen sizes: 360 px Android, 390 px iPhone, 768 px tablet and 1440 px desktop.
- 146 links were checked against the live store; 0 broken.
- Lighthouse on the live site: accessibility 100 and best practices 100.
- Problems found and fixed are explained in the AI Build Notes.

Meets the brief:

- "Navigation works", "Buttons and links work", "Sections behave correctly", "Mobile layouts do not break", "Product cards are usable", "Text remains readable", "Animations do not interfere with usability", "The overall journey feels natural" (Test Your Work)
